Types

This index contains information about Doukhobors in the Imperial Russian army reserves (those of eligible military age who had not yet been called up for active service, and those who were discharged after completing their term of active service) who, in 1895, handed in their reservist papers to authorities and refused to bear arms. These Doukhobor reservists fell into two categories based on their region of origin:

E-R Elizavetpol reservists arrested and jailed in Elizavetpol prison in 1895; transferred to Kazakh prison, Elizavetpol in 1896; exiled to Armenian and Tatar auls ("villages"), two per aul, in the Yerevan and Nakhichevan districts, Yerevan in 1897; then released in 1899.

K-R Kars reservists arrested and jailed in Kars prison in 1895; some transferred to Metekhi prison, Tiflis in 1896; exiled to Tatar auls, two per aul, in the Agdash district, Elizavetpol and Baku district, Baku in 1897; then released in 1899.

Note: Doukhobor reservists from Tiflis province were exempted from the above-noted punishments owing to their domestic circumstances (i.e. they were already subject to civilian exile).
